FAMILY ADVISORY COUNCIL

Woman/Maternal

We are looking for a diverse group of parents and family members to:

- Provide insight and advice on the needs of your community.
- Lead positive policy change and be part of the solution to improve services and systems of care for women in their childbearing years.
- Advocate for women and their health.
- Serve as a partner with the Bureau of Family Health to improve the health of families and communities.

We invite women and individuals who want to advocate for women's health during their childbearing years to become a member of the Family Advisory Council (FAC).
