The Learning Tree Institute at Greenbush is a Kansas Prevention Collaborative partner supporting data collection, analysis & evaluation through the following tools:

- www.kctcdata.org
- Annual survey of students in grades 6, 8, 10, & 12.
- Data is used to assess community prevention needs and to set and measure progress toward objectives and goals.

- www.kyas.org
- Annual survey of young adults aged 18-25.
- Data is used to monitor and understand substance use and risk patterns beyond K-12 and into adulthood.

- www.kbhid.org
- Provides one location for broad behavioral health information from multiple sites.
- Kansas counties use to develop strategic prevention plans and to assess community behavioral health needs and disparities.
